More about this plan

These are the reasons they give as to why this plan differs from other plans. Excerpt from the Crowded House website:

Flexibility. The plan specifies a number of chapters for each week rather than for each day. This makes it more flexible. You can read a chapter or two each day or you can read it in two or three sittings. Or you can set out reading a chapter a day and then catch up at the weekend. It means it fits more readily around people's lifestyle.

Communal. It is designed to be followed with a partner or among a group of people. There is only one section each week (occasionally two shorter books). So you don't have to read a section from one book and then a section from another book each day. It means the sections are somewhat uneven, but it makes it easy to discuss what you have been reading when you meet up with other people. We've been using it for a year now and it works very well in this way. I meet up with a friend each week for lunch. It's easy for us to discuss what we've been reading because there is only one Bible book to focus on. It also means I only need look at the Bible plan once a week - I don't need to refer to it each day.

Realistic. Following this plan you read the OT in three years and the NT twice in three years. This works out at about nine chapters a week. It means you are not rushing through what you are reading to 'get it done'. I've found with other plans I tend to read it with my mind disengaged. This plan gives time to meditate on the passage.

Balanced. The plan balances OT history, prophecy, wisdom, Gospel and Epistles throughout the year. You move between genres so you're never faced with reading OT prophecy continuously for six months.

Why not do it as a care group, with your spouse, prayer group? By doing it in community there's not only more chance of success, there's more opportunity to grow as Christians.

One thing that may seem a little odd, is that the programme starts in February 2009. This is because we're a bit slow off the mark giving it to you. But in the end, it just means that the plan finishes at the end of Jan 2012 rather than December 2011.
